

The University of California San Francisco and the School-Based Health Alliance invite school-based health center staff to attend a two-part webinar on

Beyond
the Pill

Practical and Sustainable Steps for Addressing Bias and Patient Concerns in Contraceptive Counseling

Join us for a free, CME/CE accredited two-part virtual training to deepen your contraceptive counseling skills by exploring implicit bias and learning how to apply the principles of cultural humility.

Through a review of patient-centered counseling techniques and case-based learning, participants will practice offering non-judgmental counseling in common challenging real-world scenarios. Strategies for presenting scientific data, including on irregular bleeding and weight gain, are also discussed. Additionally, opportunities for self-reflection throughout the workshop offer participants the chance to explore the impacts of implicit bias on clinical outcomes and reproductive autonomy. Pre-registration required. Space is limited. Participants must attend BOTH dates.

Course No. MMC20087

June 27 & 28
2 PM to 4 PM Eastern
REGISTER HERE: BIT.LY/BTPSBHC