Today I had the pleasure of speaking to some teens in Terrell county about My story living with HIV and to educate them a little more and I must say it was refreshing. I've been quiet for a while but I'm back on my platform again! Over the last year or so I stopped posting as much about HIV Education and my story because I felt like I was sounding like a broken record but after today I felt my purpose again. Today I remembered why MY VOICE matters. My voice gives HOPE. My voice gives UNDERSTANDING. My voice invokes CHANGE. My voice is NEEDED. Whether you hear me saying the same thing 5 times or 50 it doesn't matter because my purpose is to make sure SOMEONE who needs to RECEIVE the information does. That's my purpose, to educate, shed light, and promote change. HIV is REAL and has to be talked about along with other STD's and I apologize myself for allowing my own crazy thoughts and society to shy me away from what I'm most passionate about. This is what I love.

THIS IS WHAT I DO! But IM BACK 😊.

Youth Summit Comments

My favorite part of the Youth Summit was...

When the speakers talked about real life situations

Because of the Summit I am better able to...

Understand what AIDS/HIV really is

My favorite part of the Youth Summit was...

Hearing someone's testimony that actually has HIV

My favorite part of the Youth Summit was...

The Sex Chain Video

One thing I would change about the Youth Summit is...

Everything was good. I just wished more people came out to hear about this

Flu School Vaccine Campaigns

- Held a school wide flu vaccine campaign at the school sites where we have SBHC's
- Sent letters and a consent form home to the parents to inform them about the flu vaccine campaign
- First Year doing this program- the school where the program was held had the least amount of flu cases out of all the schools within the school system
- Also used this opportunity to increase the number of students using the SBHC which helps with sustainability

 Germs don't take school breaks!
Help keep your child from getting the flu this year by having them vaccinated!

Flu Vaccines are now available at Turner Elementary SBHC

The Turner Elementary School-Based Health Center now has flu shots available for students and faculty.
